WORT[illegible]
Of Confidence.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla is a medicine that, during nearly 40 years, in all parts of the world, has proved its efficacy as the best blood alterative known to medical science.

SARSAPARILLA (extracted from the root of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla) is the base, and its powers are enhanced by the extracts of Yellow Dock and Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other potent ingredients.

IS your blood vitiated by derangements of the digestive and assimilatory functions? is it tainted by Scrofula? or does it contain the poison of Mercury or Contagious Disease?

THE leading physicians of the United States, who know the composition of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, say that nothing else so good for the purification of the blood is within the range of pharmacy.

ONLY by the use of this remedy is it possible for a person who has corrupted blood to attain sound health and prevent transmission of the destructive taint to posterity.

THOROUGHLY effective renovation of the system must include not only the removal of corruption from the blood, but its enrichment and the strengthening of the vital organs.

RELIABLE witnesses, all over the world, testify that this work is better accomplished by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA than by any other remedy.

BLOOD that is corrupted through disease is made pure, and blood weakened through diminution of the red corpuscles is made strong, by AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

PURIFYING the blood and building up the system require time in serious cases, but benefit will be derived from the use of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA more speedily than from anything else.

MEDICINE for which like effects are falsely claimed is abundant in the market under many names, but the only preparation that has stood the test of time, and proved worthy of the world's confidence, is

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

DEMPSEY WINS.

La Blanche Knocked Out in Thirteen Rounds.

BOTH MEN SEVERELY PUNISHED

The Fight Takes Place Sunday Morning and Proves the Greatest Middle-Weight Contest on Record

NEW YORK, March 14.—What those who witnessed the encounter designated as the greatest middle-weight fight on record was fought at [illegible] o'clock this morning at Rye, just on the border line between New York and Connecticut. The principals were George LaBlanche of Boston, Mass., and Jack Dempsey of New York. The stakes were $1000 a side and about $600 in a purse, [illegible] by [illegible] sporting gentlemen of this city. Jack Dempsey was the winner, thirteen desperate rounds being bitterly contested, and it is declared that a better and more manfully fought fight was never witnessed.

There were about forty persons present, including two or eight members of the New York [illegible]. The chief difficulty experienced by the managers of the fight was to hoodwink those who were watching [illegible] and the toughs who were determined to be present [illegible] the fairness of [illegible]. In this they succeeded. In the first place the men were put on board a large propeller which proceeded up the North river [illegible]. The remainder of the party went on board and steamed [illegible] about twenty five miles away, which was reached [illegible]. The two principals slept [illegible] and the gentlemen [illegible] themselves as best they could on board the [illegible].

ON THE GROUND.

A ring was pitched properly and those present [illegible]. The two gladiators stripped and were [illegible] down before the spectators.

The Marine, as LaBlanche is called, put on a suit of blue trunks and [illegible] fighting shoes. His stockings, according to his own custom, were rolled down, leaving his calves bare. Dempsey wore [illegible] hose and white gaiters.

A better looking man than the Marine it would have been hard to find. He was not quite as tall as Jack Dempsey, but he weighed a few pounds more. He tipped the beam at [illegible] pounds. Dempsey looked [illegible]. Dempsey's weight was 144½.

John O'Neill was chosen referee and two well known [illegible] were time keepers.

One of the best known members of an eastern athletic club made the following brief speech to the men: "You will fight according to Marquis of Queensberry rules, with light gloves. You will break at the call of the referee, make no noise, and go to your corners when either of you knocks the other down, and wait until the referee decides whether the fallen man is done up or not. Now then shake hands."

Then the principals and their seconds formed (or more properly speaking attempted to form) a Maltese cross. They failed to do so because Tom Bogue of Boston, one of the Marine's seconds, did not reach the outstretched hand of Tom Cleary, Dempsey's first second. Tuthill was number two for Dempsey and Patsey Shephard number two for the Marine.

The men went back to their corners, and after donning their brown light kid gloves were summoned to the fray by the referee with these words: "Are you ready? Time!"

FIRST ROUND.

The men faced each other coolly and determinedly, Dempsey standing remarkably high above his adversary, who was compact, lithe and resolutely bent on being the aggressor. The Marine tried a little one with his right, landing on Dempsey's breast. This was not very effective, but it was swiftly followed by another with his right on the ribs and still another with his left full on Dempsey's breast, which sent him back against the ropes. Then Dempsey shifted his ground and tried to change the Marine's tactics with feints with his left, which, however, did not check the advance of LaBlanche until Dempsey succeeded in putting in a stinger on his antagonist's neck. This stopped him for an instant and then seemed to anger him, and, gathering himself together, he went for Dempsey with both hands straight, and vigorously landing his right on the New Yorker's ribs made a serious abrasion of the skin. Time was called and the men went to their corners amid a [illegible] that was simply phenomenal.

SECOND ROUND.

The Marine was up briskly and started in to force the fighting. He looked and felt confident. Dempsey smiled as of old, and came jauntily to the scratch. The Marine was bent upon effective work and rushed his man against the ropes, administering severe body blows, which were always countered by Dempsey with his left. This round ended in nobody's favor. Indeed, it was said that it was anybody's fight, with a slight upward tendency in the Marine's stock.

THIRD ROUND.

The Marine was again lively at the scratch. He commenced fighting at once. His object evidently was to drive Dempsey into a corner and punch him at short arm distance. He was partially successful. He let go his right at Dempsey's head. It was short, but he got in with his left nicely and whack on Dempsey's body. The latter broke ground and resolved to change his tactics. He became very shifty, and, like a clever general, at once began to play for the Marine's eyes in the hope of blinding him. In the course of this round Dempsey proved himself a marvelous boxer, a great tactician and a thoroughly game fellow. The Marine dropped his head in an attempt to deliver his right on Dempsey's right jugular, but was short, and caught a severe uppercut in the face, which drew the claret from his nose. First blood was claimed and allowed for Dempsey.

FOURTH ROUND.

The Marine was very strong and very aggressive, but could not get home his right on Dempsey's neck. He forced the fighting, and tried hard to [illegible] his man up. He hit Dempsey several times on the body, and finally they clinched at the ropes and broke at the referee's order. Thereafter Dempsey got in a few straight left handers on LaBlanche's face and raised a very large swelling on his right eye.

ROUNDS FIVE TO [illegible].

Dempsey and the Marine came together like two prize bulls. It was give and take, and at the [illegible] it was seen that the Marine had a very bad cut on his left cheek bone, from which blood streamed down over his breast. Time was called and the men went to their corners.

Rounds six, seven and eight were characterized by such close in-fighting that it was almost impossible to tell how it would all end. The Marine's face was swollen and bleeding copiously. He spat out a tooth or two, which showed Dempsey's remarkable skill with his left hand. The latter's body was badly bruised.

Round 9—This was another rally with terrible give and take fighting.

Round 10—In this, after hard hitting, the Marine and Dempsey clinched. The referee shouted "Break." The Marine dropped his hands in obedience, and received a stunning knock down blow from Dempsey. A foul was claimed, but not allowed.

ROUNDS ELEVEN AND TWELVE.

In round eleven Dempsey came up a trifle fresher than the Marine and began to force the fighting. It was not half way by the Marine, but the New Yorker's terrible left played upon the Bostonian's visage like a piston rod, doing frightful execution. Blood flowed freely from the Marine, who, nevertheless, fought back gamely and wickedly with both hands, punishing Dempsey more than he ever was punished before in his career in the ring. Time was called and the men went to their corners looking badly. Dempsey's body was covered with abrasions, and his face was marked here and there.

Round 12.—Again the men came together in dead earnest. It was give and take. Both were very strong and very game, but Dempsey's terrible left worked fatally on the countenance of his adversary.

THE MARINE KNOCKED OUT.

The Marine came up and again dashed gamely at Dempsey, who pitched in now for dear life, for he felt that the crisis had been reached. The Marine was bleeding like a stuck pig, and Jack was puffing and blowing badly. They both then got to work at half arm distance and never stopped punishing each other until the Marine dropped exhausted. Dempsey went to his corner showing signs of the terrible punishment he had received, and the Marine strove to get to his feet, but he could not rise. He was practically knocked out, so when the referee called "Time" he could not respond. He did get up and, hurling himself gamely at Dempsey, fell powerless into the latter's arms, and was assisted most carefully by the plucky New Yorker to his chair in his corner. He was a beaten man and his seconds gave it up.

Then the referee announced Jack Dempsey victorious, and the spectators received it in silence. Time, fifty nine minutes.

A FAIR FIGHT.

Greater stamina, a pluckier and fairer fight was never witnessed in this country, and two gamer men never faced each other in a twenty four foot ring.

The Marine sat in his chair, bleeding, battered and bruised, and when asked if he was hurt, said faintly: "I'm hurt. Dick [illegible] badly hurt, but it was a square deal."

Dempsey was asked how he felt and if he was hurt. He replied: "Well, I won, but you can bet I was hurt hard."

AFTER THE CONTEST.

Five minutes after the fight was over the principals and spectators had dispersed and nothing was left to tell of the great event but a few blood stains on the floor and the strong odor of tobacco fumes which pervaded the atmosphere. LaBlanche was taken away in a carriage and it is said went on to Boston. The victorious Dempsey, whose slightly swelled and discolored face and cut lip were the only indications that he bore of the famous encounter, was taken aboard the tug boat and was the center of a congratulative crowd, on the way to Hunter's Point, where he and his friends were landed about noon. The news rapidly spread through Green Point and Williamsburg, to which place he was escorted. He met with as demonstrative receptions at the several saloons in which he stopped as the restrictions of the Sunday law would permit.

It is a notable fact that the most prominent men in sporting circles, such as Harry Hill, Joe Coburn and Arthur Chambers, were left out in the cold and did not get a correct tip. Even old time sporting news reporters went astray, after forty eight hours' wild goose chasing over Long Island and Westchester county.

As to the fight, it was agreed by all who witnessed it that it was the most fairly fought and gamest encounter of the kind ever known. The men were both scientific in the use of their fists and [illegible] hard hitters, but Dempsey's long arms [illegible] terrible.

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF THE FIGHT.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Additional particulars of the fight say that in order to escape the [illegible] who [illegible] in one direction or another [illegible] following the movements of the principals, their managers or others who were supposed to be [illegible] Long Island side of the East river [illegible] the landing place [illegible].

At last, with [illegible] danger, both Dempsey and LaBlanche were quietly taken to the scene [illegible] New Yorker [illegible] at daylight [illegible] premises was [illegible] twenty four [illegible] feet was pitched.

By the time the ring was ready and the principals and their [illegible] had [illegible] been forty [illegible] spectators [illegible] to have paid $50 each [illegible] watch the men fight. [illegible] of the principals [illegible] amounted to $100, and there was a [illegible] by the men [illegible].

SPECTATORS [illegible]

The [illegible] for the admission [illegible] was given [illegible] to keep [illegible] until the night [illegible].

[illegible] gathering [illegible] the men who [illegible] they stood [illegible] posed the gathering to be for a [illegible] different purpose. The twenty eight who had [illegible] high hats and fashionable [illegible] New Yorkers [illegible] or more of a theater party [illegible] the fight. All these were members of the New York [illegible] club, but their names were [illegible] that they were deeply [illegible] earnestly interested in the event there was no [illegible] and bets running into thousands were [illegible] freely received from time to time.

It was almost [illegible] o'clock, the sun being up and shining brightly, when the final preparations were concluded by the choosing of John O'Neill as referee. Meanwhile the men had stripped. Dempsey [illegible] dark trunk tights, and LaBlanche [illegible]. The men looked splendid specimens of physical and muscular perfection. Dempsey was [illegible] his opponent, but weighed over [illegible] pounds less.

OTHER FIGHTS

MITCHELL KNOCKS OUT HAMILTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Last night a prize fight between Young Mitchell of this city and [illegible] Hamilton of San Jose, with hard gloves, took place in a barn at West Berkeley. Hamilton had the best of the contest up to the ninth round, when, contrary to all expectations, Mitchell knocked him out.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—The Call, writing of the Mitchell Hamilton fight, says: "The susceptibility of California's admirers of fighting was once more imposed upon, and a bigger fraud and fizzle was never perpetrated on a long suffering community. Eight tardily fought rounds were gone through by the principals, with three ounce gloves, after refusing a lighter and better pair offered. On the commencement of the ninth round, as it was getting late, some one of Hamilton's backers suggested that he had better 'go out on this round or we will all miss the boat.' A slight hint from Mitchell's right hand produced the desired effect, and settling himself comfortably in the sawdust he refused to answer the call of time. The fight and stakes were awarded to Mitchell. It is getting to be a regular thing now for pugilistic loafers to give out a quiet hint that they are to have a fight on the sly, and thus induce a lot of foolish people to go over to Berkeley and contribute to their support for a month or two by paying $2 or $5 a head to witness a prearranged hippodrome."

PRIZE FIGHT AT LEADVILLE.

DENVER, March 14.—A News' Leadville special: A prize fight lasting one hour was fought to-day in California Hall between Jack Cunningham of Silverton and Bryant Campbell of Leadville. Both men are considered hard hitters. They used soft buckskin gloves cut off at the second joint. Fifty three rounds were fought, during which the men [illegible] knocking each other down several times, but were always up when time was called. In the next to the last round Campbell knocked down one of Cunningham's seconds. A free fight then commenced, but was stopped by a dozen [illegible] who jumped into the ring with drawn revolvers. Order was soon restored and the referee ordered the men to the scratch. Cunningham responded, but his antagonist was completely exhausted. The battle therefore was given to the Silverton slugger.

THE LABOR TROUBLES

ANOTHER [illegible] STRIKE THREATENED.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—The Examiner's New York special says: The committee of the Empire Protective association, having in charge the enforcement of the demands made by employes of Jake Sharp's [illegible] with the company. Sharp says to-day that the men are disposed to step beyond their rights, and [illegible] unreasonable demands. The committee has given Sharp until Monday to think over the matter and will then call for an answer. If Sharp continues obdurate his lines will be stopped and the prospect is first [illegible] for the stopping of all the cars in the city, as was done last week, and consequently another gigantic strike of 16,000 men.

[illegible] WILL [illegible]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—At a meeting of the [illegible] executive committee of the anti-Chinese association of this city last night the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That on and after May 1, 1886, each member of this association will, as strictly as he possibly can, exercise his personal right to patronize those persons that he is satisfied could dispense with Chinese help, and that no general boycotting shall be attempted by this association until the 10th of September 1886, for the purpose of giving all persons a reasonable time to procure [illegible].

A [illegible] BOYCOTT ORDERED.

CHICAGO, March 14.—District Assembly No. 57 of the Knights of Labor held a meeting here to-day, and though the session was secret, a man [illegible] after adjournment gave the information that it had been decided to sustain the striking employes of the McCormick reaper works, and boycott the firm, which is now employing nearly a full force of non union men. It was also decided at the meeting [illegible] the Thompson & Taylor [illegible] using Maxwell Brothers' goods, [illegible] the full strength of the order in boycotting Maxwell Brothers.

POWDERLY LEAVES PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—Grand Master Workman Powderly and Messrs. Hayes and Foley, members of the executive board of the Knights of Labor, left here yesterday and will be followed to-day by Mr. Barry and other members of the board. Messrs. Bailey and Hayes went to New Brunswick, N. J., to spend Sunday with friends, and they will join Mr. Barry in New York to-morrow, when an investigation into the cigar makers' strike in that city will be begun. Powderly's colleagues say he has gone South on routine business.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR

THE ILLINOIS TRAIN ROBBERY.

CHICAGO, March 14.—The Inter Ocean's Joliet special says: By comparing the notes of Conductor Wagner and several passengers of the train aboard which express messenger Nichols was murdered yesterday, all have accepted the theory that the murder and robbery were perpetrated by four men, three of whom boarded the train at the Chicago depot and the fourth at Blue Island. Two of the men traveled on a pass issued to "R. D. Martin and one," good between Chicago and Kansas City. Before reaching Joliet the conductor became convinced that the men were suspicious characters and asked to see their passes again. On the second inspection of that issued as above stated the conductor noticed that it had been originally 1881, and that the last figure of the date had been neatly covered by a paster bearing the figure 6. Upon this he refused to return the pass and ordered the men to leave the train at Joliet. They did so, but are believed to have boarded the train between the baggage and express cars just as it pulled out. No clue to the men has yet been discovered.

CHICAGO, March 14.—It is understood that Andrew Watts, baggage master of the train robbed yesterday, is under private surveillance here, and has been ever since he arrived in the city last night and told the thrilling story which many people profess to consider extremely fishy. He said yesterday that he had been instructed by the company to hold his peace. It is thought probable that particulars of his arrest and the place of his confinement are kept secret in order that if he is implicated in the outrage his accomplices may not be put on their guard by hearing of the suspicions regarding him.

THE OREGON SINKS.

She is Disabled by a Schooner near New York.

THE PASSENGERS AND CREW SAFE

The Schooner Believed to have Gone Down with all on Board. A Portion of the Mails Saved—A History of the Vessel

FIRE ISLAND, N. Y., March 14.—[illegible] this [illegible] sighted a four master steamer [illegible] slowly [illegible]. She turned southeast and she has been drifting in that direction [illegible]. Only [illegible] can be seen [illegible] is the British steamer Oregon, from [illegible]. At [illegible] A. M. she had drifted out of sight. At 4 P. M. the German steamer Fulda, from [illegible] via Southampton, off this point, reports that the steamer Oregon is sunk. All of the passengers of the Oregon are on board the Fulda. The Fulda will probably reach quarantine about 8 P. M.

SUNK BY A SCHOONER.

SANDY HOOK, March 14.—The steamer Oregon was run into by a schooner between Sandy Hook and Fire Island [illegible]. She commenced sinking at [illegible]. Part of her passengers were transferred to a pilot boat and to the schooner, and it is believed that they were all subsequently transferred to the steamer Fulda. There are over 800 passengers and the crew of the Oregon. None on the Fulda [illegible]. The Oregon is entirely abandoned. She was at [illegible].

NO LIFE LOST.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The German steamship Fulda, Capt. Ringk, from Bremen, which arrived at [illegible] P. M. to-day, reports that she [illegible] Fire Island March 14 at 1 P. M. [illegible] to take [illegible] the passengers and crew of the Oregon and anchored at the bar off Sandy Hook at [illegible] P. M. The saved of the Oregon are [illegible] first cabin, [illegible] second cabin and [illegible] steerage passengers and [illegible] crew. The steamer Oregon collided with an unknown deep laden three master schooner on the 14th inst. at [illegible] A. M., when between Fire Island light and Shinnecock, striking the steamer on the port side, immediately [illegible] the saloon and tearing a large hole in her side under water.

Capt. Cottier, of the Oregon, was below, the chief officer being on the bridge.

One of the passengers states that the hole is so large that one could drive a horse and wagon through it. [illegible] also that when the vessels collided it sounded like the roar of an ordinary cannon.

The boats were, after some difficulty, manned and lowered into the water. The ladies were first put into the boats and transferred to pilot boat No. 11 and the schooner Fannie A. Gorham, Capt. Mahoney, from Jacksonville for Boston. From 8 to 11 A. M. the work of transferring passengers was proceeded with. All were transferred in safety, not a single life being lost. At 12:15 P. M. they were all safely transferred again to the steamer Fulda, which, owing to the state of the tide, was obliged to anchor off Sandy Hook at 6:30 P. M. Capt. Cottier was the last man to leave the ship.

HISTORY OF THE VESSEL.

The steamship Oregon was built by John Elder & Co. at Glasgow for the Guion line and was launched on June 21, 1883. She arrived here on her initial trip October 14, 1883, making the run from Queenstown to New York in 7 days, 8 hours and 20 minutes. At that time she was the most magnificent, most powerful and fastest of the trans Atlantic vessels, with the exception of the [illegible] of the same line. She retained the record for fastest speed. In August 1884 she made the run from Queenstown to New York in 6 days, 9 hours and 42 minutes, this being nearly twenty four hours shorter than her first trip, and the fastest then on record. On her return trip to Queenstown she made the run in 6 days, 11 hours and 9 minutes.

The dimensions of the Oregon were 520 feet in length, 54 feet breadth of beam, 40½ depth of hold and [illegible] tons gross measurement. She was built of iron, with nine transverse water tight bulkheads, five iron decks and a strong turtleback deck forward and aft as protection from heavy seas. She was fitted to accommodate 340 saloon, 92 second cabin and 1000 steerage passengers.

MOST OF THE MAIL LOST.

The tug boat Fletcher, which went down [illegible] the mail, arrived at the Cunard pier at 11:40 P. M. W. C. Tway, United States inspector, who had charge of the mail, said he only succeeded in recovering sixty nine of the more than 600 bags which were on board when the collision occurred. He added that he was able to learn little about the collision except that the steamship was run into by an unknown schooner. None of the baggage, he said, was saved.

FROM THE TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Tribune's account says: The shock of the collision immediately woke the sleeping passengers and that portion of the crew who were having their watch below. The passengers at first were thrown into great confusion, but the calmness of the officers and the fact that day was just beginning to break over a tranquil sea reassured them. At the time the collision took place pilot boat No. 11 was about to put a pilot on board, and the schooner Fannie A. Gorham of Boston was passing near. These immediately bore down to the steamer and lay by, ready to offer assistance.

An examination of the Oregon showed that she had [illegible] holes in her port side [illegible] struck the steamer a second [illegible]. All efforts to stop the leaks were unavailing and the great steamer began to settle in the water. The boats had been lowered when the accident first occurred. It was [illegible] that the Oregon would keep afloat for some hours, but that it would be impossible to bring her into port. The work of ferrying the passengers to the waiting schooner and pilot boat was begun at once. The women and children went first, the captain leaving the ship last. It was eight hours from the time of the collision to the time when the captain of the Oregon reached the deck of the pilot boat. The Oregon had settled low in the water, and soon after the captain had gained the pilot boat he said he saw his magnificent ship go down before his eyes. She filled rapidly and went down [illegible] first in about twelve fathoms of water. The upper parts of her main, mizzen and jigger masts [illegible] above water.

THE SCHOONER PROBABLY SANK.

The schooner that the Oregon crashed into was seen in the wake of the steamship for a moment after the collision, her bow and all her head gear wrecked. Then she disappeared. It is supposed that she sank, and that all her people were lost.

One of the passengers on the Oregon whose room adjoined the mail room heard all hands ordered below to get coffee a few minutes before the collision. When the shock occurred the crew was ordered on deck again. He ran on deck in his night clothes. Women and men were running wildly about. The officers and the captain behaved splendidly. Nobody seemed to be injured. The sea at the time of the collision was as smooth as a ballroom floor and the sky was clear. The wreck of the Oregon is about five miles from [illegible] and within sixteen miles of Fire Island light.

THE FULDA PASSES IN.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The steamer Fulda passed Sandy Hook at 1 A. M., bound in with the Oregon's passengers.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

EVADING THE EDMUNDS RESOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—It is stated that a number of zealous friends of some of President Cleveland's appointees have found a way to get around Mr. Edmunds and his resolutions. In particular cases several democratic senators are understood to have obtained from heads of departments papers on file in cases in which they were particularly interested and to have shown them to the committee member having the cases in charge. In this way they have evaded Edmunds' resolution, by removing all necessity for asking the department for papers on file. In one case, where it was claimed papers had mysteriously disappeared from the files and the department officials were supposed to be searching for them, it is now stated that they are in the hands of a sub-committee having the case under consideration.

SHOT AT A REHEARSAL.

[illegible], March 14.—This evening John Igoder, an employe of the National [illegible] works, was fatally shot by A. Welder, while rehearsing a drama at Turner hall which was to have been presented by the Turner Literary society. The shooting was purely accidental. It seems that an old shotgun supposed to be unloaded had been procured to practice a drill which was one of the requirements of the play. When the order to fire came the gun was discharged and one side of Igoder's face was torn away, together with [illegible] and almost the entire nose. [illegible] Schoberry, who was standing near by, received [illegible] of the shot in the face, but was not seriously hurt. Igoder was carried away unconscious. He will die. The play was postponed indefinitely.

[illegible] CLEVELAND'S MARRIAGE.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The Sun's Washington special says: Wild rumors of the president's marriage are taking a serious form. They say it is surely to take place during the summer. This is supplemented by another: they say that Miss Cleveland told somebody, who told somebody else, that she did not expect to be mistress of the White House another year. As positive evidence they say that the young lady is now in Europe and will bring home her trousseau.

DEMOCRACY [illegible] DIVIDED.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The Daily Post, organ of the administration in this city, in an editorial to-day says: "Congress has been in working order more than two months, and the relations known to exist between the president and democratic members, together with disagreements of the latter among themselves, seem to make it impossible, having [illegible] entirely the [illegible] to [illegible] for any action by the house and president other than the passage of the usual appropriation bills. The democratic party is not agreed to-day upon any matter in which the people of this country take a rational interest. On all questions of currency, legal tender coinage, methods of enforcing the civil service law, internal revenue, tariff and inter state commerce there is a minority more or less strong and zealous, sometimes supported and sometimes opposed by the president, in open antagonism to the great majority of the party. To this absence of harmony, this failure to agree upon anything, and the utter helplessness of the party arising therefrom to move in any direction, are directly chargeable the discontent which now exists."

AN INTERESTING DECISION.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The work of the senate committee investigating the Broadway franchise may have to be done all over again. Recently an [illegible] interpreter in the postoffice was arrested and convicted in the state circuit court of larceny committed while on duty in the postoffice. The [illegible] finally discharged him on the ground that the state had no jurisdiction over a federal building. District Attorney Martin called attention to [illegible] to this decision [illegible] sworn falsely [illegible] the state senate committee [illegible] to legal standing in a federal building.

LOGAN AN ACTIVE CANDIDATE.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Sun's Washington special: If the opinion of politicians who make Washington their headquarters during sessions of congress could prevail at the next republican national convention John A. Logan would be the candidate of the party. Logan has stated in the most positive way that under no conditions would he consent to take the nomination for the second place with Blaine or with any other candidate who may be nominated. He affects no concealment about being an aspirant himself for the first place, and he does not intend to be passive in his ambition or rest in a delusion that a nomination may come to him unsought.

OF INTEREST TO OREGON.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The committee on rivers and harbors will hear further statements in regard to the advisability of improving the water ways of Oregon. Senators Dolph and Mitchell and Congressman Hermann have all appeared before the committee to urge liberal appropriations. The appropriation for Yaquina bay has been raised from $[illegible] to $[illegible]. The committee have promised to provide for Coos bay.

The postoffice department has ordered an increase in the mail service from Salem to Knight to three times a week. The change will be made [illegible].

A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Lieut. A. W. Greely, the Arctic explorer, submitted to a severe surgical operation yesterday which consisted of severing the nerves and separating the flesh and muscles from the base of the spine. It is hoped the operation will destroy the acute neuralgia from which he has been a constant sufferer since his return from the polar regions. Should it fail to have the desired effect he will be compelled to undergo searing of the spine with a redhot iron, similar to that which Clara Morris underwent in Paris a few years ago.

A NOVEL RANCH.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Samuel Wolcott of Arcade, Wyoming county, has started a novel ranch. It is for raising skunks for their hides. He starts his business with 100 breeders and is confident the business will prove a remunerative one, since there is a large demand for skunk skins.

DEATH OF AN AGED TELEGRAPHER.

PERRY, N. Y., March 14.—Sanford Gordon, the oldest telegraph operator in the United States, died at Castile, N. Y., on Saturday, aged 82 years. For a long period he was in charge of the Erie railroad depot at Castile and was well known and very popular.

CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS.

BOSTON, March 14.—Leading clearing houses of the United States report the total gross bank exchanges for the week ending March 13 were $850,[illegible] 11,389, an increase of 13.8 per cent compared with the corresponding week last year.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE OIL COMPANY BREAKS A CONTRACT.

CHICAGO, March 14.—The Times says: The Standard oil company has never indicated a desire to pay higher rates than were accorded to the general community. The transcontinental war, however, put it in that situation for a few days. For some time past it has been shipping oil in car load lots from Chicago to Pacific coast points under contract with the Pacific coast association and the transcontinental association at the exceptionally low figure of 72½ cents per hundred. But in view of the contest now raging that would be quoted as a high rate and the Standard company, feeling the pinch effectually, moved in the premises. As a consequence an order was issued by the Pacific coast association informing general freight agents that the contract had been abrogated. When rates went down to 30 cents it was not human nature, or at least it was not Standard oil nature, to abide by the contract that still gave them a monopoly as against everybody else, but forced them to pay higher rates than was enjoyed by other industries. Hence they promptly moved for abrogation of the contract, and of course they got it. They generally get what they ask for, and so far as heard from modesty has never been one of the characteristics of their demands."

ENGLAND.

ROYALTY'S BLACK EYE.

LONDON, March 14.—Discussion of the supply bill on Thursday revealed the attitude of the new parliament toward the crown in an unpleasant fashion. The result of the vote for royal parks was not a surprise. It is an old grievance that the whole country should be taxed for the benefit chiefly of London society. The charge for royal palaces were opposed for other reasons. Statements that 100 horses maintained at Buckingham palace required the attention of 90 men; that the country paid the duke of Edinburgh's gas and water bill, and that the produce of the Hampton court stud, maintained by the country, found no place in the balance sheet, emphasized the irritation of the radical and workingmen members and others against the shabby treatment popularly supposed to have been dealt out to Gladstone by the queen, and accounts for the majority against the government.

GLADSTONE'S SCHEME FOR HOME RULE.

LONDON, March 14.—The Observer says that at the cabinet council yesterday the measures submitted by Mr. Gladstone for home government of Ireland were unfavorably received, and that the project if persisted in will lead to disruption of the cabinet. The Observer states that Mr. Gladstone's draft as printed and handed to the cabinet deals exclusively with expropriation, for which a collossal sum will be required. The administration of the fund is to be entrusted to an Irish local body, the constitution of which is left blank in the draft, but which, the ministers were informed, would be of the character of the Irish parliament.

EGYPT.

THE ARMY TO BE REDUCED.

CAIRO, March 14.—Lord Rosebery, British foreign secretary, has instructed Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, British commissioner in Egypt, to arrange for reduction of the army of occupation by six regiments and withdrawal of British troops from Assouan and Egyptian troops from Wady Halfa.

THIRTY REBELS KILLED.

SUAKIM, March 14.—In a skirmish to-day between British and rebels, thirty of the latter were killed.

The Mugwumps and Mr. Cleveland.

From the Brooklyn Eagle, the Leading Democratic Afternoon Paper in the East.

To the extent to which the administration through its vanity or fears permits itself to be influenced by the independents, the administration is weakening, and deceiving itself in a fool's paradise. The independents can lose the administration a party and cannot make a party for it. The administration cannot make itself a party. It is sustained at present in congress by what may be called the habit of the democrats of supporting the agents they elect. It is not sustained by the intellect of the democracy. It has done nothing to touch the heart of the democracy whatever, yet the democracy is the most politically affectionate party ever known among men and has stood by its presidents who have stood by it with an ardor and courage unsurpassed. At this time it knows it elected a president who is daily portrayed by political eunuchs who claim to [illegible] him as infinitely better and braver than whom? Than the five million and more democrats who nominated and elected him. And this effusive, insolent and preposterous praise bearing does not appear to be resented. We have hopes that time and experience may bring the president and his party together. We know that if that is done the mugwumps will have to be cast [illegible] for with the organized hypocrisy represented by them democrats will not fellowship. We know that whether the president acts with and through and for his party or not the democracy will itself be faithful to its traditional usages and [illegible]. It will go to victory or defeat as a party of courage, consistency and self respect. It [illegible] succeed with [illegible] the administration it elected [illegible] would rather succeed with it. The administration [illegible] elected [illegible] cannot succeed without it the party [illegible] elected [illegible] could not succeed at all unless it [illegible] [illegible].

A New View of Pontius Pilate.

London Truth.

Had Pontius Pilate lived in our days he would have become a cabinet minister. Much has been said against this Roman governor, but, after all, what was he? An opportunist with a predilection for office.

GENERAL NEWS.

A Protest against the Use of the Boycott.

CHINESE FLOODING AUSTRALIA

A Bright Outlook for the Salmon Industry—Big Fire and Explosion in Oil Mills at Toledo—Coast Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Gen. John H. Bidwell, the well known Chico rancher, who figured prominently in the recent convention at Sacramento as an anti boycotter, was interviewed with a view of ascertaining his views on the best way of dealing with the Chinese, and the nature and basis of his objections to boycotting. The general said:

"These are not unusual times. Such popular excitements as that which is now arousing all over the coast are periodical in their recurrence. My candid opinion is that if you deduct from the sum of the causes which have aroused public feeling on this question those circulated simply and solely to promote the selfish interests of politicians you would not find justification for half the excitement now manifested."

OBJECTIONS TO BOYCOTTING.

"But why do you object to boycotting generally?"

"While boycotting is not in violation of the letter of any express statute, it certainly, to my mind, violates the spirit of the laws of our country and of humanity. It is something so new, so utterly un-American, that I am surprised that any sane citizen of this free country can think of employing. Law is the foundation of all our prosperity, and I hold that when the constitution and laws fail to give a due and needful amount of protection to industry the constitution and laws should be so amended as to do so, and thus render unnecessary labor organizations in the interests of labor.

"Again, boycotting, could its use be justified in any circumstances, should never be allowed to be exercised by irresponsible persons or combinations unknown to the laws. In other words its use, if permissible at all, should be regulated by law, with the opportunity of appeal to the courts. Unless this power of appeal is given boycotting may become the worst kind of tyranny, and may be used by designing men for ulterior purposes. In a word it may be made the thumbscrew of a modern inquisition.

A DANGEROUS SYSTEM.

"No such system of persecution as boycotting in its proposed form should be permitted unless an order authorizing it were published in a paper, and signed by all those voting in favor of it, and not even then unless the signatures constituted a majority of the legal voters in the localities where it was proposed to operate.

"The star chamber methods now adopted I consider a disgrace to our state and our civilization. If it goes on long as it has started it will only be a short time until there will be as great an outcry for legislation to restrict boycotting as there now is to restrict Chinese immigration.

"I want congress to settle this matter, and would be in favor of our government exhausting the resources of diplomacy to induce China to recall its subjects now in this country, and I would have our treaties so modified that no Chinese who once left would ever be allowed to return, but I do not and can not approve of or sympathize with boycotting."

CHINESE FLOCKING TO AUSTRALIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—H. J. Lennox, of Melbourne, who is sojourning in this city, states that the Australian colonies are experiencing troubles with Chinese immigration similar to those that have excited the public on the Pacific coast during the past year. In Victoria a poll tax of £10 a head is rigidly enforced, and the immigration act limits the entry of non naturalized Chinamen to one passenger for every 100 tons of the vessel in which they may arrive. During the month of January the ship Afghan arrived at Melbourne from Hong Kong. She had 179 Chinese passengers on board. Of these 127 were naturalized British subjects, but 52 attempted to land upon false papers. As the Afghan was only a 1400 ton ship her limit of passengers was fourteen. Capt. Ray was at once cited to appear in the city bench, and as the evidence was clear against him he was promptly fined $500. Evidence brought out during the trial showed that in Hong Kong brokers do a good business in Victoria naturalization papers. In several instances boys of 14 who were passengers upon the Afghan had papers stating that the owner's age was 40 years. Upon being pressed as to how they secured these papers, the boys admitted that they had paid 140 taels for them in China, for that sum brokers had guaranteed to land them in Melbourne. One hundred and forty taels is about equal to £45 English currency.

THE SALMON MARKETS

A Bright Outlook for the Coming Season—Prices Already Looking up.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—Under its commercial columns to-day the Evening Bulletin says: "An English order is reported to have been recently filled for 60,000 cases of Columbia river canned salmon, pack of 1886, comprising three favorite brands at $1 10, $1 12½ and $1 15 free on board in the river. Other sales previously made bring the total to 155,000 cases of Oregon canned salmon, pack of 1886, at an average all round of at least $1 10. As the season in the Columbia does not open until April 1, and as comparatively little packing is done before the 1st of May, these purchases indicate a pretty strong market. Of course there are reasons for the movement. The pack last year was several thousand cases short of 1884. In addition four or five of the salmon laden ships for Europe in the past twelve months have been wrecked, with a total loss of cargoes.

"At last mail dates stocks in the English market were moderate and well concentrated, and spot prices were strong at 22@26s per case."

In addition there has been a considerable movement in Sacramento river canned salmon, pack of 1886, at equally good prices, namely $1 12½ to $1 15 per dozen, free on board the cars. Usually Sacramento river fish bring less money than Columbia river fish, but as the run is earlier here than in Oregon canners have been able to do better this year, owing to light stocks abroad for early supply. It is claimed that there have been orders for early shipment to Australia, at a limit of $1 20. Low freights in all directions is also an important element in the market now. We submit that this shows a strong condition of the market.

With sales of 180,000 to 190,000 cases at this date, light stock in English, Australian and Eastern markets, and with no carry over stock on this coast, the outlook for the season for canners is an encouraging one. Should the present apparently bright prospects continue, shippers and canners will do their utmost to put up a large pack.

We understand that the Chinese engaged in this work on the Columbia river are not to be disturbed this year, as it is difficult to fill their places. The season on the Columbia river lasts only four months and other laborers cannot be imported with profit for such a short period.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Linseed Oil Works Wrecked by Flames and the Bursting of a Gasoline Tank.

TOLEDO, O., March 15.—At 1:45 A. M. people were aroused by a tremendous explosion, awakening everybody in the city, accompanied by a shock like that of an earthquake. People rushed into the streets to find the cause, and were directed by the light of an enormous conflagration to the linseed oil mills of Varney, Tayler & Co., on the middle grounds along the river above the Union depot, which were on fire. The report was that of the explosion of the boilers of the burning establishment. There are believed to have been several casualties, but there are no particulars yet.

LATER.—The oil mills, machinery and contents are a total loss. They consisted of an elevator, used for the storage of flax seed, a large building containing machinery for grinding oil, and a large two-story brick building used for refinery. Fire was discovered in the latter, and an alarm turned in, but before the firemen reached the scene a large iron tank of gasoline, which was used for some purpose in refining linseed oil, exploded with a tremendous report, entirely demolishing the building containing it, and throwing burning oil in all directions, and firing the other buildings of the establishment.

The mills stood at the base of a bluff bordering the low grounds along the river, which are occupied by the tracks of the Lake Shore, Wabash and other roads. The force of the explosion was thus directed over railway grounds, else the destruction would have been widespread. As it was, windows of residences on the top of the bluff were smashed for two squares away, and those on the side of the Oliver house, a three story brick hotel over a square away, were utterly demolished on the side next to the explosion, the sashes being blown in.

Some fifty feet away from the burning building was a two story frame structure, used as an office by the yard master of the Dayton & Michigan road. This was partly wrecked by the explosion, and fired, being entirely consumed. Two employes, sleeping in the upper story, had a narrow escape.

Just across the tracks from the explosion was a long frame car shed, which was knocked into kindling wood. South 100 yards is another railroad office near the roundhouse. Windows were blown in and telephone operator James Stark, on duty within, was knocked down and dangerously cut by flying glass. A number of other persons in the vicinity of the fire were knocked down by the concussion, but no serious accidents are yet reported.

PORTLAND MONDAY MARCH 15, 1886.

A PUBLIC MEETING

Acting upon the suggestion of a body of representative citizens, and impressed by his own observation with the gravity of the situation the mayor has called a mass meeting of citizens of Portland for to-morrow (Tuesday) at [illegible] M, to take measures for organization of public sentiment in support of order and law

Events of recent occurrence, here and elsewhere, make it highly proper for the mayor to call this meeting, and make it likewise a high duty of our citizens to respond to the call

The importance of it is fitly emphasized by the call for a meeting in the active business hours of the day It is indeed, the most important business that can engage the attention of citizens It is not a merely incidental thing to be attended to at a spare hour after business is closed, but a matter of highest interest, to take precedence for the time of everything else

With this view the meeting is called, not in the evening, but in the afternoon There should be a general attendance—merchants, working men, professional men, manufacturers—all men of all trades and employments. The object will be to give expression to the determination of this people to uphold order and law, to effect an organization that will pledge in a pronounced manner, the whole support of the community to the lawful authorities, and to show to evil doers that there is a mighty force of public opinion ready to sustain by all necessary means the laws of the state and of the United States against all who assail them

To make this meeting an impressive one business generally ought to be suspended at the hour at which it is called This will show an interest in the matter that will have great effect As it is highly proper that this meeting should be called, so it is highly necessary to make it a great and impressive one The question simply is whether this city is to be surrendered to a mob or not whether lawlessness is to prevail or not whether outrage is to continue or not It is time this question received an answer

A PECULIAR VINDICATION

When a resolute, thick and thin organ of the party makes a determined effort to "uphold the administration, it goes about it as if it realized that it had had no common obstacles to overcome Such is the nature of an effort by the Albany Democrat to sustain the president at all points in his controversy with the senate THE OREGONIAN has pointed out the fact that neither the president nor the senate was dealing candidly and fairly with the issues presented Each is trying to state the grounds of the controversy in a way that will misrepresent the position of the other The president tells the senate that papers on file in the departments, on which he has nominated men for office, are his own property that the senate cannot rightly call for them, and that he has not displaced any officials for the purpose of appointing others in political affiliation with his own party while the senate, knowing well, as all persons know, that each house has always been accustomed to call on the departments for any papers on file, and that large numbers of republicans have been dismissed from office simply to make room for democrats, refuses to admit that the president is entitled to any credit whatever for promoting reform in the civil service, and hence it intimates that his administration is the worst kind of a spoils machine Thus, on both sides, there is a want of fairness and candor, and through partial statements and equivocations on both sides the real issues are obscured

But the Albany Democrat has a short way with the whole controversy It doesn't consider it It does not even look at one side of it, but clears all difficulties at a bound by an assertion of its own It says "THE OREGONIAN has wittingly or unwittingly misstated the issue by saying, 'But if there are any papers on file in the public offices touching such removals and appointments, the senate claims the right to call for them,' etc. But the president has not refused the senate the papers, " etc.

It would appear then that the president, when he sent his long message to the senate, the whole gist of which was an argument against the right of the senate to call for such papers, ending with flat refusal to send them, didn't know what his real purpose in preparation of that message was However, most people have understood him as having said what he intended to say and it is certain that he is withholding the papers accordingly By the leading democratic journals of the country the grounds taken in his message to the senate have been questioned he has been criticised for withholding the papers on the plea that they are his private property, and the opinion is very general that the position cannot be maintained as the settled and constitutional policy of executive action Thus, the Boston Globe says "We fear the president is on untenable ground in his fine-drawn distinction between public papers on file, which he admits the senate has a right to see, and private papers on file, which he claims it has not the right to see Can there be such a thing as a private paper on a public file? Can any paper, officially filed or recorded in a public office, be privileged and confidential? We have our very strong suspicion that these questions must be answered negatively Likewise the New York World says "If a president receives private and confidential letters, intended for his own eye alone and for his private information why should he put them on file in a public department Why should he not keep them in his own possession as he would a letter from a relative or a personal friend on social subjects Does not the fact that he files them in a government department indicate that they are put away for future reference if required, and as a part of the documentary history of the administration? And the New York Sun says "The right of the president to keep or destroy private or confidential communications will be disputed by no one When, however, he places a paper in a public office his own act stamps it as a document of public import and thenceforth its contents should [illegible] the representatives of the people or any one else having a legitimate interest in them Why could he not go to the department of justice and take the papers away five or ten years after the expiration of his term as president just as well as now"

It seems pretty certain, then, that the president has refused to send to the senate papers on file in the public offices else he and the great newspapers of his party, as well as the senate itself, are strangely mistaken But the organ that is resolved to "uphold the administration" in all circumstances has a short way with such difficulties It simply denies what the president admitted he had done, and what he wrote a long message to justify himself for having done. THE OREGONIAN tenders its congratulations to the Albany Democrat upon its mighty effort to vindicate the administration against itself

The collection of pictures left by the late Mrs Morgan, of New York, described in THE OREGONIAN a few days ago by a Portland lady who inspected them personally netted over $885,000 In all there were 40 pictures. Eleven pictures by Jean Francois Millet sold for $54,000, an average of nearly $5000 each One of them brought $14 000 Large as was the amount realized from the sale, it was about 238,000 less than the original cost of the pictures, a tolerably certain evidence that they were not purchased with good judgment It is said that pictures of real merit, purchased by a competent connoisseur, are almost certain to increase largely in value in the course of a few years. Much of the picture buying in this country is done by persons who have suddenly acquired fortunes, but who have no knowledge of art and often no real love of it. It is one method of ostentation, and they are easily beguiled into paying extravagant prices, the picture being esteemed in proportion to its cost.

A SERIOUS MATTER.

In all business circles the fact has become noticeable that the criminal agitation which has been going on here for the past two months is having a marked effect upon industry and business. It checks trade, stops investments, makes men unwilling to enter into contracts which must be performed by employment of labor, causes postponement of plans for building, and puts a damper upon business and enterprise in all directions

But this is not all of it, nor the worst of it If our own people, by this blatant agitation, with its accompanying threats and demonstrations of outrage and violence, are deterred from making investments and going on with business, still greater will be the loss from natural disinclination of people of other states to come into a locality where investments of capital appear to be at the mercy of a communistic mob

This is not a figment of the imagination It is, unfortunately, too true Mr I W Allen, commissioner for Oregon, at the New Orleans Exposition writes to a merchant of Portland "Many visitors to the Exposition come to me daily to see our Oregon papers, to ascertain more definitely what is being done to stop the lawless course of the mob for but few people of means, such as I am urging to go to Oregon, care to go if no respect there is paid to men's rights, and if mob law is to rule"

This is a sufficiently serious matter Incalculable harm has already been done to the whole Northwest by this criminal agitation, with its accompaniments of violence It is paralyzing business and industry among us, is arresting enterprise, is keeping back a class of people who would come among us with means to invest, and is making every man pause before entering into engagements which would place his property at the mercy of mob rule And yet all this is done, falsely, in the name of the working man, whom it injures more than any one else Crimes may be committed in the name of labor as well as in the name of liberty Already burglary, robbery incendiarism, attempts to destroy life with pistol and dynamite, have followed in the train of this "agitation They are its natural fruit, and more of the same kind may be expected In such circumstances what working man can expect to obtain employment? What man of business can expect an active and profitable trade? And who will come to the country and subject investments of capital to the assaults of lawlessness?

The Blair proposition was based upon the necessities of the South It was claimed that the Southern states did not and could not educate the rising generation of negroes because of the expense In this strait it was proposed to help them out The appropriation had to be made general but it might reasonably be believed that those states in which there is no illiteracy to speak of and which already have good schools easily supported would decline to receive their share of the county's money or else turn it over as a gift to states where it was supposed to be needed But not so, now that the bill has passed the senate, the Yankee states, which certainly need neither public schools nor the means of maintaining them, are eagerly figuring out their proportion which is found to be as follows

	First Year	[illegible] Years
Maine	$ 24[illegible]	$ [illegible] 0
New Hampshire	1 110	[illegible]
Vermont	[illegible]	[illegible]
Massachusetts	104 [illegible]	[illegible]
Connecticut	[illegible]078	[illegible]
Rhode Island	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	$ [illegible] 0	$ [illegible]

Is this country prepared to give two millions and a half of public money to support schools in the New England states? We think not

It is said that Col Hamilton feels keenly the injustice of the suggestion that he would approve any proceeding of lawlessness and outrage Then why don't Col ? Hamilton denounce these proceedings instead of giving them encouragement? His paper has not contained one word of condemnation, or even of disapproval, of these lawless proceedings carried on by masked men with pistol, torch and dynamite On the contrary, it has treated the matter with levity, as if they were smart and clever; it has presented for them excuse and apology, as if they were entirely justifiable It has, in fact, made itself the recognized organ of the ku klux ism that disgraces this community "Col" Hamilton has chosen his associates. They are the masked ruffians of nightly outrage and to support, defend, encourage, and excuse them his paper is printed From the beginning of the world till now men have been judged by the company they keep

In regard to the president's declaration as to the papers on file in the departments, that "If I saw fit to destroy them no one could complain," the Boston Traveler very pertinently remarks that section 5403 of the revised statutes provides that any person who takes from any public office any paper, document or record filed or deposited therein, with intent to steal or destroy the same, is made liable to a fine of not more than $2000 or to imprisonment at hard labor for not more than three years, or both There is no exception in favor of the president, and the inhibition of the statute is addressed as well to him as to the humblest citizen

They are all "law abiding men"—these fellows who put on masks and make midnight raids who make "polite requests" on the highway for money, and enforce the same with the revolver who blow up houses with dynamite who drive an industrious people here under treaty and entitled to the protection of the law, away from their occupations, burn their houses, rob them of their money and destroy their property In the new parlance of the day these are all "lawful methods." I will be found yet that hanging is a lawful method too

There will be no trouble at La Camas on the Columbia river The people there have taken time by the forelock Twenty absolutely trustworthy men have organized armed themselves and been sworn in as deputy sheriffs, and the agitators have been given to understand that their first move toward evicting the Chinese will bring on a fight. And further, that it will be no skirmish, but a fight to kill When a community presents this kind of a front there is no danger from such stuff as agitators are made of

If Col Hamilton is "deeply grieved" at [illegible] himself set down in the public mind as an [illegible] and abettor of midnight arson and lawlessness he has an easy remedy Let him come out with his alleged newspaper on the side of decency order, good citizenship and law Let him make it as hot as he can for the midnight maskers and dynamiters, instead of running an organ to grind their music and give them encouragement, as he does now

One thing the course of "Nat. Baker, "Col" Hamilton "Col" Gilson and others has accomplished, viz It has made the movement for expulsion of the Chinese disreputable in the eyes of all decent people, and criminal in sight of the law

They who rob Chinese and drive them away from their homes would do the same to white people if they dared When booty is the object the color or nationality of the plundered man is a thing of little concern

The Canadian Pacific people will build a branch line from their main stem to Helena, Montana The chief engineer of the company has been making a trip to Helena to look into the matter

In France the law requires that dealers advertise adulterated goods as such That's nothing In this country bogus newspapers advertise themselves as such, every day

This is one of the days when the "boycott will fail to work Every agitator will buy, beg or steal a copy of this number

A full account of the Dempsey La Blanche prize fight is printed by THE OREGONIAN this morning

Cause and Effect

Dayton W[illegible] Church [illegible]

The laboring men of the United States appear to be insane in the present [illegible] and strikes are in progress in every part of the country The duller the times and the more difficult it is to obtain work the more frequent are the strikes It is well for the laboring classes to defend themselves from the impositions of capital but one can not exist without the other and both should aim to work for mutual interests It is greatly to be regretted that alien agitators and socialists are at the head of nearly every movement inaugurated ostensibly for the amelioration of the laboring classes If such is the case and surely it is, since such agitators are men who will not work themselves and seem determined that the real laboring man shall not do so The [illegible] of women and children are reduced to the point of starvation by the bullheaded and ill advised dictation of these foreigners, many of whom are not yet citizens Ending the strike on the Missouri Pacific railroad by which trains are not allowed to run 5000 men not interested in the strike are suspended from their occupations simply because the company has no use for their services unless they can operate their road Thinking men are of the opinion that the time is not far distant when Americans will deeply regret that their country has been made the receptacle for the offscourings and scum of the old world and that the rights of citizenship are so easily obtained * *

It does not require that one should be a prophet to predict that smouldering ashes will mark the spots where now stand our beautiful cities unless Americans ignore the crazy teachings of professional agitators and follow the dictates of common sense and an honest conscience

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

PORTLAND, March 14.

Twenty-eight deeds were filed for record with the county clerk during the past week of an aggregate of $33,651 65. The mortgages filed during the same period foot up $466,100 50 and those released $17,600.

The transactions in real estate for the week just closed show an advance of $12,500 over those of the week previous. There is a growing inquiry for all classes of property at fair market rates and [illegible] the transfer of several small farms near the city. There is a good inquiry for business property paying a fair return for the money invested, but holders' demands are generally too high to meet the views of purchasers. The southern extension of the First street railway and the prospect of the narrow gauge system entering the city during the summer, has considerably stiffened prices in the southern end and some owners are hopeful of business in that direction. The following are the transfers for the week:

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

STILL SEARCHING FOR HER SON.—The story of Frank McLaren, who left his home in T[illegible], Montana, last [illegible], concerning whom several paragraphs have been published in these columns, is still unsolved. His mother writes to THE OREGONIAN that she has [illegible] information regarding his whereabouts, but has only learned that he [illegible] through THE OREGONIAN, by means of which he succeeded in tracing him to Heron, Montana, where he arrived last September. Before she could reach Heron he was off again, and although she continued the search ever since she has not been able to find him. A few days since she learned that he has been back to Heron about the first of January, when he was in a destitute condition, dressed in coarse working clothes and hatless. There can be no doubt of his insanity, though it would not be suspected by strangers. His mother has suffered great anxiety about him and spent a great deal of time and money in trying to find him. She earnestly desires that any one who knows of his whereabouts will telegraph at once to Marshal Stoner at Butte City, Montana, and will gladly reward any one who will furnish such information. Frank McLaren is 1[illegible] years old, has brown hair and eyes and quite a full round face. He frequently changes his name. When last heard of he called himself Albert Lea. He exhibits great ingenuity in inventing stories to account for his being adrift in the world and succeeds in making his way from one place to another without trouble. It is to be hoped that any one who may know anything concerning this errant youth will at once communicate with Marshal Stoner and aid the distressed mother in finding her child.

FOLLOWING THEIR ELDERS' FOOTSTEPS.—Saturday afternoon three well grown boys entered and ransacked two houses out in the south end of town between the Children's Home and the railroad. From the house of M. L. McLeran they stole two pistols and in another near by they turned everything topsy turvy but found nothing to their taste except the contents of the larder, to which they helped themselves liberally. They then went out the macadamized road toward the White house. They ran across a Chinaman in the employ of the water company and, covering him with their pistols, forced him to hold up his hands while they searched him and robbed him of $20. They then crossed the river to Milwaukee. These hoodlum highwaymen are probably the sons of men who have gone out at night masked and armed to rob inoffensive and helpless men and burn buildings. These sons will naturally follow in the footsteps of their fathers, who consider riot, robbery and arson with incidental murder no crime. It will be years before the effects of the bad examples and teachings of the lawless and riotous men and the irresponsible papers who have aided and abetted them in spreading their unlawful doctrine in this community will be effaced from the minds of the young who have unfortunately been so situated as to be influenced by them.

PUZZLING RESERVATION QUESTION.—Joseph Depoe, who resides on the Umatilla reservation with an Indian wife and five half breed children, has complained to the editor of the Centervillian that the agent, B. Coffey, has threatened to send a policeman to force his children to attend the reservation school. It seems that Mr. Depoe lives twenty miles from the reservation school, while the Centerville school is only two miles distant. Mr. Depoe therefore sent his two youngest children to school at Centerville and paid his portion of school tax for their education. The Centervillian wants to hear from the authorities at Washington whether Agent Coffey has the power to compel a parent to send children to a school which he does not see fit to patronize. It is probable that Agent Coffey was only enforcing the rules governing the reservation, which all who reside thereon must expect to obey, even if it is inconvenient. But if there is a rule requiring children to go twenty miles to school when there is one within two miles it should certainly be amended.

TELEGRAPH CIRCUIT 4000 MILES.—One night last week a mass of telegraphic matter was sent from Chicago to Ogden via Portland and San Francisco. That is to say, the operators at Chicago worked direct to Ogden without relaying at any intermediate office. The emergency arose as follows: There was trouble between Omaha and Ogden and the line from Helena to Ogden was down. Hence the matter had to be sent this way or not at all. The feat of telegraphing this immense distance was accomplished by the aid of repeaters. These are strong magnets placed between the ends of long circuits, say from 400 to 600 miles long. The matter then passed through a repeater at St. Paul, through three between St. Paul and Portland, and one between Portland and San Francisco, and one between San Francisco and Ogden. The distance is 4000 miles and it is believed to be the longest distance that ever a [illegible] was sent by sound without relaying. Cablegrams are not sent by sound but by flashes of light.

AUDACIOUS TRAMPS.—For the past three months a gang or several gangs of tramps have been making their "home" in the stables of the Gentlemen's Driving park. They have burned up about forty rods of fence for fuel, utilizing the fire for warming themselves and for cooking the food which they steal. One day last week a prominent stockholder in the park happened to drive out there and came upon a gang of the intruders, who were making themselves comfortable around a fire, playing cards. He drove them off and then hired a man to keep them off. The man really wanted to earn his wages, and the first night made a tour of the stables with his lantern but could find no one about. At 11 o'clock he lay down in one of the box stalls, and went to sleep. When he awoke shortly after daylight he was somewhat surprised to find that he had eight tramp bed fellows in the stall. He ordered them off, but they laughed him to scorn.

INCREASED IMMIGRATION.—The war between transcontinental railroad lines and the consequent reduction of passenger fares has stimulated immigration immensely. Arrivals from the East for the past week being 7[illegible], as follows: Sunday 114, Saturday 138, Friday 51, Thursday 51, Wednesday 91, Tuesday 110 and to arrive to-day 128. Of the total number 611 came emigrant. Freights are increasing too. The Omaha Republican of the 9th says: Assistant general freight agent Griffiths, who has charge of the California fast freight business for the U. P. road, reports that the tons of freight transported during February and the amount of revenue derived, notwithstanding the rate war, amounts to about 30 per cent more than for the month of January.

SUICIDE.—James H. Carns, a discharged soldier from the Co. H, Fourth Iowa infantry, and a member of Joe Hooker post, G. A. R., who has been herding sheep in Baker county for some time past, committed suicide at the Railroad house in Baker City by taking carbolic acid. He purchased the acid at James & Jones's drug store and was warned of its poisonous nature. A few days before his rash act he had some $60 in his possession, but only 40 cents were found on his person at the inquest. He probably squandered his money or was swindled out of it and in a fit of despondency put an end to his existence.

MR. FECHHEIMER'S DISEASE.—A post mortem examination of the body of the late M. W. Fechheimer was held yesterday by Dr. Holt C. Wilson, assisted by Dr. J. F. Ghiselin and Dr. Otto Binswanger. It confirmed the diagnosis made before Mr. Fechheimer left for the east, viz: that he had cancer of the stomach. Technically stated, the examination showed that the disease was scirrhus cancer of the pyloric end of the stomach, involving greater omentum and passing from these to large intestine in neighborhood of transverse and descending colons.

THE WEATHER.—Yesterday was a bit of genuine March weather, raw and showery. As evening came a heavy rain began to fall, which however did not last long. Notwithstanding that the weather has been cool vegetation is making progress. An almond tree on Hall street is in full bloom and the pretty pinkish red blossoms of the wild currant are bursting from their sheaths. This is one of the earliest and prettiest of Oregon wild flowers. The grass is getting lush in favored spots and is of a vivid green and growing fast everywhere.

BAR MEETING.—There will be a bar meeting at the court house this morning at 10 o'clock to take suitable action for the attendance of the bar at the funeral of Mr. M. W. Fechheimer, which takes place at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and also to take such action as may be proper in respect to the memory of the deceased by his brethren in the profession. A full attendance is desired.

BRIEF MENTION.

The trial calendar will be called in state circuit court department No. 2 to-day, and cases will be set for trial.

Judge Smith will announce this morning a decision in the case of Philbrick vs. Smith on motion for a new trial.

The sound of a band practicing "St. Patrick's Day in the Morning" down in the First ward yesterday served as a reminder that the 17th is not far off.

Mellis & Co.'s announcement in yesterday's OREGONIAN that East Portland ladies will be conveyed back and forth free of charge on Tuesday between 2 and 4 A. M. should have read "between 2 and 4 P. M."

The Portland Choral Union will present the cantata of "Ruth the Moabitess," which has been in careful rehearsal for nearly three months under the direction of Prof. B. Frank Walters, in Y. M. C. A. hall Friday evening of this week.

The bible reading at the W. C. T. U. hall this afternoon will be conducted by Mrs. Shane Smith. A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies whether members or not. Special arrangements will be made at the close for the book social to-morrow night.

The boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. will give a stereopticon exhibition in the hall on Tuesday evening, consisting of views in Great Britain, with description of the same. The proceeds will be used to purchase the stereopticon for the future use of the boys.

THE STAGE.

THE CASINO.—"Falka," which has been played for a week to very large business, will be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week. The management are as yet undecided whether to run it through the week or to put on the new opera Thursday night. The rumor that Mr. Kinross is to retire from the management is without foundation.

THE TIVOLI.—This week O'Dell and Leonard, the best pedestal and song and dance men Manager Clinton has had, will re-appear for a short season. The Golden Bell Trio, Burns & Donnelly, Leaton sisters and a host of others, are altogether the best variety company ever collected at this house.

Civil service reformers hold that continuance in office depends on fitness. But whatever changes take place in the administration, St. Jacobs Oil retains its hold on the people, because in every case it conquers pain.

PUBLIC MEETING.

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
PORTLAND, March 14.

In accordance with the request of a committee appointed by a meeting of citizens of Portland, all the citizens are requested to meet at the court house on Tuesday next, March 16, at 8 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of considering the alarming growth of lawlessness in our midst, consequent upon the agitation of the question of unlawfully driving out of the country a class of foreigners who are here in pursuance of treaty and are entitled to protection under the law.

We all know of the disgraceful proceedings which have been enacted lately in Washington territory, at Oregon City, Albina, Mount Tabor, and at our very doors here in Portland. They have been driven from their homes and their property has been destroyed by dynamite and fire.

A committee has been appointed at one of their meetings to notify the Chinese of this city to leave within a certain time, and we have every reason to believe from what has transpired around us that they mean what they say.

The city is full of men without any visible means of support who have been driven from town on the Sound and attracted here evidently for the purpose of riot when the time comes for the exodus of the Chinese. Our citizens are being assaulted and robbed, and there is general apprehension of outrage. It seems to be high time for all good people to come out and show the disreputable outlaws that the local authorities will be sustained by the people and that law and order must and will be maintained in Portland.

JOHN GATES, Mayor.

THE EAST SIDE.

AFTER [illegible]

A plucky woman without hat or gloves visited the various saloons of the city at an early hour this morning in search of her recreant husband. She finally found the fellow in a resort on Fourth street, and the way she yanked that rooster into the fresh air was a caution. Officer Atterberry says the lecture she delivered to her single auditor was spicy in the extreme. "No longer ago than yesterday," she said, "you promised to love, cherish and protect me, and this is how you do it. We have no food in the house, and here you are about burst with beer. Oh, you wretch!" and she marched him off home on the double quick. It is not known whether the defendant is an agitator or not, but the presumption is strong that he has missed his calling if he is not.

SCHOOL MEETING.

The tax payers of school district No. 1 will meet to-night in Central school building at 7 o'clock for the purpose of making the annual tax levy. The question of borrowing money to be used for the purchase of a block of land in the north end part of the city upon which to erect a school building will come up. An additional building in the locality named is badly needed. Stephens's addition is likewise in need of another wing upon its partially completed school edifice, and this matter will doubtless also be brought prominently before the meeting. The tax levy which will be voted will, it is thought, be for building purposes only. A full attendance of tax payers is desired.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Mrs. A. L. Trush, known to all East Portlanders as Aunty Trush, and one of the most genial and noble hearted of women, yesterday celebrated the seventy-sixth anniversary of her birth. A goodly number of intimate friends assembled at the family residence on Third street during the afternoon and literally overwhelmed the dear old lady with tokens of remembrance. Aunty Trush came to Oregon in the year 18[illegible] and has ever since her arrival been a resident of East Portland. She is greatly beloved by hosts of warm friends, who will wish her many happy returns of the occasion so beautifully celebrated yesterday.

STORE ROBBED.

At a late hour on Saturday evening, sneak thieves entered the cigar and variety store of Mr. Stroecker, situated in Willamette park, on the east side of Fifth street, and helped themselves to merchandise as follows: Four boxes cigars, four bottles soda water, six packages of tobacco, an assortment of valentines and several second hand books. Entrance was effected through the window, the thieves having torn off the rustic with which the aperture was barricaded. The doorlock was ruined in an ineffectual attempt to pick it. No clue to the perpetrators, but the general impression prevails that the work is that of hoodlums.

DELINQUENT TAXES.

At the regular meeting of the common council this evening the delinquent city tax list will be turned over by the recorder to Marshal McMillen for collection. Persons knowing themselves to be tardy should hasten round to-day while it is yet time, and save themselves costs by paying to the recorder.

NOTES.

Three persons were baptized at the M. E. church last evening.

Regular meeting of the common council this evening at 7:30.

The condition of Capt. Phillips at a late hour last night was such as to warrant strong hopes of his recovery.

Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Johnson and Miss Cougill of Vancouver were in the city yesterday visiting friends.

Mrs. Leander H. Wells is somewhat improved in health. Mrs. Wells has been confined to her room with pleurisy during the past fortnight.

Dr. H. K. Hines has been suffering for several days with a severe attack of neuralgia in the face. He is better now and hopes to be able to attend to duties as usual this week.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore, who has been seriously ill for the past three weeks, is reported considerably better, a fact that will be gratifying to many friends.

In accordance with a custom long established, Mr. J. A. Newell, as the senior member of the board of school directors, has assumed the position of chairman of that body.

Rev. S. P. Wilson, of the M. E. church, goes to Halsey this morning for the purpose of assisting Rev. M. Judy in revival services now in progress there. Mr. Wilson will be absent three days.

Mr. J. I. Stuart and wife, of Crosskeys, Crook county, are expected to arrive in East Portland during the week. While here they will be the guests of their daughter, Mrs. H. D. McGuire.

Mrs. N. I. Curen, who was so painfully injured by a runaway horse on Friday last, is resting comfortably. Her physician speaks confidently of her rapid recovery. She has the best of nursing, thanks to warm hearted friends.

Capt. R. Look is contemplating removing to Puget sound in a short time, where in company with other gentlemen he may engage in deep sea fishing. The captain is a skipper of extensive experience, having been a pilot on the Atlantic coast for forty years.

One day last week a team attached to a lumber wagon became frightened near A. J. Hoyt's saw mill on Johnson creek and ran into the mill pond. They were extricated by the prompt efforts of one of the mill hands, who dived to bottom and loosed the tugs.

The hoodlum element was on the warpath on Saturday night, and one of the sufferers at their hands was the proprietor of the new shooting gallery on I street. His fine new sign was taken from its place and carried. The proprietor would like very much to know where East Portland can boast of some of the most robust hoodlums now in the market.

MAINLAND OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., March 11.—Every steamer carries up the river numbers of miners from all parts of the coast bound for the Granite Creek mines. The rush, if it increases in volume as the season advances, will be almost unprecedented. Three ladies from Tacoma accompanied their husbands up last week. Yale parties have offered $1000 to any one who should discover a feasible trail from Yale to the mines, and several men have undertaken the task. At present Hope is the starting point from the railroad, but if a trail could be opened from Yale the latter place would reap the benefit, as the distance is considerably less from there.

A meeting of mainland mill men was held at the office of the Royal City mills Saturday evening. Matters of general interest were discussed, and it was decided to advance prices on all classes of lumber, which was done last Monday. In some cases the advance was 25 per cent. A committee was appointed to draft by-laws, etc., and to report at an adjourned meeting Saturday evening, when a permanent organization will be effected. The lumber business is brisk owing to the large amount of building following the completion of the C. P. R., and the mill men are confident of a good season's business.

Rails are en route from Liverpool for the branch line from Port Moody to this city.

The hospital benefit given by the Port Moody literary society was highly successful. Quite a number attended from this city.

Through trains from Montreal will commence running in June. There must be some good rustling to get the terminal works completed in time.

IT IS WELL.

PORTLAND, March 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The request of a number of citizens to the mayor of the city to call a mass meeting of citizens for Tuesday next, as published in THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN of this date, is an important and very proper move under existing circumstances. A people who build cities, such as Portland is, are able to protect them, although they may be possessed to a remarkable degree of the virtue of patience. The events of the past few days have marked the time for action. Let the call be issued by the mayor, let the citizens—all who are in favor of enforcing the laws—respond. Not so much for pronouncing whereases and resolves, but for the purposes of conferring together as citizens and with those in authority to adopt a line of action with a view of vigorously pushing the business in hand to a finish. Let business be set aside and let every able bodied law abiding citizen step to the front, feeling that he has a duty to perform, and let him be prepared under proper guidance to perform that duty well. This done and the brawl of the agitator will no longer be heard; the skulking assassin and the midnight robber will then not be seen by day threading his way among his possible future victims on our streets; the dynamiters' boom will no longer resound throughout the city in the dark hours of night, and the incendiary's flame will have vanished, as will have the horde of criminals which now infest the city. Let the work be well done and peace, security and restoration of business will be the reward.

THE ATTACK ON COL. PHILLIPS.

Proof that the Highwaymen made their Escape upon a Horse which they had in Waiting.

There is most positive evidence that the attack on Col. J. K. Phillips was premeditated, that the place of the attack was selected, and that the highwaymen had made every preparation to escape. They stole a horse and had the animal tied conveniently near the scene of the fray. About 7 o'clock last Thursday evening W. F. Long, an expressman who lives at the corner of Tenth and O streets, tied his gray mare to a stake in front of his house for the purpose of letting her graze till bedtime. He then started down town. When he returned about 9 o'clock he found the mare gone and that the rope had been cut about ten feet from the stake. His house is isolated and fronts on a common which [illegible] back of it to [illegible] Asylum creek. Long immediately began a search, and finding no traces of the mare gave up hunting till Friday morning. It was an easy matter to track the mare in daylight because on the day of the robbery she lost one shoe. He soon found that she had been led almost in a straight line to a little gulch near the corner of Sixteenth and O streets, a block from where Col. Phillips was shot, and tied to a fence. The tracks indicated that she had stood there an hour or two. The next tracks pointed southward. Evidently when the thugs mounted the mare they started her at a run, as the tracks showed where she slipped down an embankment four feet high. Long kept on out the Milwaukie railroad, learned at Sellwood that a horse was heard going south through the town at a gallop between 1 and 2 o'clock. He arrived at Milwaukie at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and found his mare tied to the schoolhouse fence. Residents of the town noticed her there at daylight. The mare was old and had done a hard day's work, and was no doubt completely exhausted when she reached Milwaukie. She is nearly white, and the marks of two men having ridden her were unmistakable. A stray horse which had been taken up by a resident of the town and was running in a barn lot was missing at daylight, and the reasonable supposition is that it was stolen by the pair of fleeing desperadoes. Following is a description of the second horse stolen: Bay gelding, a sort of a cayuse pony, bald face, left fore foot white to the pastern joint, left hind foot white from hoof to gambrel, brand "S" on shoulder, had on halter and rope which were stolen from Long's horse.

The above is the statement of Mr. Long as told by him yesterday to an OREGONIAN reporter.

There is further proof that the men who robbed and shot Col. Phillips were the same who escaped on Long's mare, from the fact that several Grand Army papers, which were taken from Col. Phillips, were found about half way between where he lay after he was shot and where the mare was tied, and in the direction that the men took when they started on their flight.

So far as known the county authorities have taken no steps looking toward the arrest of the highwaymen.

Col. Phillips's condition yesterday was favorable and he was resting easy. If pneumonia does not set in he has a good chance of pulling through.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Frost, of [illegible], left yesterday on a visit to friends in the South.

Mrs. S. Woods, matron of the Children's home, left last week for Philadelphia for a short visit.

Mrs. I. H. Thatcher and children left for the Eastern states on Thursday on a visit to relatives and friends, and will probably be absent about five months.

A FAIR SUGGESTION.

PORTLAND, March 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Permit me to offer a few facts for the consideration of the citizens' mass meeting to be held in this city.

First—There has never been a period in the history of this city and county in which the commission of crimes of a felonious character have been as frequent and bold as they are at present.

Second—There never have been fewer arrests and punishments of felonies in proportion to the crimes committed, and in proportion to the forces employed to preserve the peace and protect life and property, as there is at the present time.

Third—The city and county are infested with a very large number of desperately bad men who have organized themselves into bands for unlawful purposes. This is done openly and with perfect impunity.

Fourth—It seems strange indeed that these bands of desperadoes, numbering thirty or forty each, can arm and disguise themselves, and succeed in the perpetration of the revolting crimes of burglary, arson, and assaults with deadly weapons, without the knowledge of some of the army of paid officials.

Fourth—It is an unfortunate fact that we have so many active politicians in that army, and it is also very unfortunate that important elections are near at hand, and still more unfortunate that these law breakers form so important a factor in our elections.

Fifth—It is also a lamentable fact that the law breakers have a more perfect organization and are better disciplined and are more active and effective in their efforts in the commission of crime than our paid defenders of the law are in protecting it.

Sixth—It is also a fact that a long suffering people, who from a sense of security are [illegible] to arise in their mighty strength to devise ways and means to correct evils which their well paid and trusted servants prove themselves inadequate to accomplish, never discriminate between the law breakers and the recreant and sympathizing officials.

If the mass meeting recognize these facts and act accordingly they will be able to accomplish some good, but if they resolve themselves into a whitewashing committee or apologize for lukewarmness, or temporize with the subject in any form they had better have no meeting.

Monroe correspondence Benton Leader One night last week three unknown cowards fired over twenty shots through the tents of some Chinamen engaged in clearing land for Mr C. E. Nicholson, three miles west of town It is needless to state that the two Chinamen who felt the bullets tearing their way through various parts of their blouses were frightened, for that is expressing it mildly A more cowardly attempt at assassination has never been attempted in these parts. Many say "They are only Chinamen" True, that's all they are but in the opinion of those who uphold the laws of our government they are much better, and a greater benefit to any community, than citizens (?) who will resort to such means to get rid of them.

FREIGHTS—The outward bound fleet is delayed in sailing by rough weather Another bark left down river to day which makes an actual loading fleet of five Report has the Harvest Home as taken to load salmon at Victoria. If correct she will not come here Tonnage to arrive continues to be freely offered but generally at not less than [illegible]s 6d for iron The wood now in port find a small inquiry and 37s 6d is the quotation At the close of January a Callao circular quoted rates for nitrate off to [illegible]s 6d [illegible] for handy iron guano charters effected at 2 s 6d same voyage and there was a fair demand for wheat loading at Chilean ports anticipated

The ship Henry Villard was taken by [illegible] & Co yesterday terms private

WHEAT—All advices are in good tone to day and Beerbohm cables something better than the usual Saturday report Spot offerings at Liverpool are liberal yet that market is firm New York, Chicago and San Francisco are firmer and somewhat higher Altogether the wheat situation appears to be healthier than for a long time There is an undercurrent of seeming strength that has not heretofore shown itself If British trade will but take hold and refuse to allow stocks to fall far below their usual level further advances must come As it is now new shipment cannot be expected to increase until India begins sending wheat Australia Chile South Russia and this coast will not be able to make up for arrivals [illegible] present prices the Atlantic seaboard shipments will not largely increase Exports from Atlantic ports for the week ending at last, were less than for the previous week and there was no increase in demands for tonnage Our market is gaining in strength from day to day and shippers are buying against needs to [illegible] A small loading fleet is provided [illegible] fully and no new freight contracts have been made on spot The Chesebrough will be loaded by a lute pool firm with Walla Walla wheat only a part of the cargo being in warehouse here Valley [illegible] is in freely but is not all sold ahead the [illegible] [illegible] effected by a new arrangement of freight tariff and warehouse charges Values are $1 [illegible] for ordinary to exceptional business and there is nothing to indicate that more is paid Walla Walla grades are difficult to quote for occasionally one hears that $1 [illegible] is not impossible while the market is certainly not much more than $1 1⅝ The $1 15 could not be had for ordinary business In the interior on Thursday 46c for unsacked—or 50⅛c sacked on cars—was paid With no other charges than freight this would be $1 14 here but there is usually some small incidental expense There should be a fleet of vessels in river soon and when they arrive more activity may be looked for Walla Walla sold free on board ship here at $1 16

FLOUR—With a better wheat market there is a better feeling in flour but no actual advance and no very early probability of one The Sound trade is dull, buyers taking only for absolute needs The Oregon went over to Albina to-day for some for San Francisco

MILLSTUFFS—Market hardly so weak but demands continue light. Values are as last quoted

OATS—Receipts again light, holders exhibiting less inclination to sell As a quotation for best grades 36@38c is given San Francisco choice have sold to better advantage but the common grades drag at low prices

POTATOES—Market dull and without positive improvement Low prices operate against free business and an increased movement would weaken San Francisco prices. Buyers here paying 30@35c per sack

ONIONS—Steady at 2@[illegible]c

PROVISIONS—No new arrivals of eastern meat but there is a stock of breakfast bacon and some hams here The market wears a rather weak tone but values are not quotably lower

DRIED FRUIT—Nothing of new interest stocks all and request good for choice

HIDES—In free movement dry being steady and salted rather easy

EGGS—Reports of sales at 10c of large lots The quotation is 11@12c stocks in first hands low but receipts free

CHICKENS—Quiet at prices long current

WOOL—The lot of eastern in to-day is probably new clip It goes to San Francisco A Boston mail advice says It is useless to disguise the fact that the market is easier and sales can only be made at concessions This some holders resist but buyers are indifferent and feel that the condition of the goods market will not warrant them in stocking up with wool at extreme prices The labor movement is becoming more serious every day and it is not certain that if manufacturers make contracts that they will be able to deliver the goods This condition is now understood The fact that production may be interrupted also makes buyers hesitate about stocking up to any extent ahead and there is a disposition to purchase cautiously for the present Some weeks ago the trade looked very promising and it appears to us that the prospects ahead are favorable but the market is temporarily embarrassed and we look for a quiet state of things for some weeks to come The number of buyers in market has been fair but most of them want concessions that holders re not disposed to make

Or SKIN CANCER.

For seven years I suffered with a cancer on my face, Light months ago a friend recommended the use of Swift's Specific and I determined to make an effort to procure it In this I was successful, and began its use. The influence of the medicine at first was to some what aggravate the sore but soon the inflammation was allayed and I began to improve after the first few bottles. My general health has greatly improved. I am stronger and am able to do any kind of work. The cancer on my face began to decrease and the ulcer to heal until there is not a vestige of it left—only a little scar marks the place. MRS JOICIE A MCDONALD

Atlanta Ga August 11 1885.

I have had a cancer on my face for some years extending from one cheek bone across the nose to the other. It has given me great deal of pain at times and a great itching to such an extent that it was almost unbearable. I commenced using Swift's Specific in May 1885 and have used eight bottles It has given the greatest relief by removing the inflammation and restoring my general health W BARNES

Spring Medicine

Everybody needs and should take a good spring medicine for two reasons

1st The body is now more susceptible to benefit from medicine than at any other season.

2d The impurities which have accumulated in the blood should be expelled, and the system given tone and strength before the prostrating effects of warm weather are felt

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best spring medicine It purifies the blood. It sharpens the appetite. It tones the digestion It overcomes debility It builds up the whole system Try it this spring

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used with perfect success in our family for canker in the stomach and impure blood My little one is entirely cured and we shall continue its use as a family medicine" MRS. F [illegible] BURTON Sumterville Miss.

Purify the Blood

I have been troubled with scrofulous humor and had sores breaking out all over my body for the last fifteen years I have taken four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has entirely cured me. I recommend it very highly to any one troubled with scrofula or any blood disease HENRY BIGGS 1819 Campbell street Kansas City Mo.

I took Hood's Sarsaparilla for general debility and was wonderfully benefited by it J P JOHNSON Martin's Ferry, O
